

LINE FORMS FOR CHEST X-RAYS—More than 3000 chest X-rays are expected to be taken in this Illinois state mobile unit in Harrisburg by 5 p. m. Saturday when it closes its 5-day service in Harrisburg. Here are some of the people who stood in line for the X-rays Thursday afternoon. The unit has operated from 10 a.

m. to 1 p. m. and 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. each day beginning Tuesday and will remain on the court house drive through Saturday. The X-rays show any suspicion of tuberculosis, other chest abnormalities or cardiac conditions which are then reported to the person X-rayed and to his family physician for further observation. Early Doctors, Medical Practices Discussed at Historical Society

Louis Aaron Is Re-Elected County President

At the regular monthly meeting of the Saline County Historical society, held in the library at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Louis Aaron was re-elected president of the organization for the fifth consecutive year. Other officers elected were Mrs. Paul Hatfield, first vice-president; Don Scott, second vice-president; James Bond, secretary-treasurer. The board of directors elected to serve for a three-year period were William H. Farley, Ray Altmeir, George C. Davenport, E. B. Webster, and D. F. Rumsey.

Following the business meeting a film was shown by John Foster and Louis Aaron depicting a flat boat trip in the early 1800's down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans.

The speakers for the evening were Dr. Neva Skelton of Eldorado and Dr. W. J. Blackard of Harrisburg who discussed the early days of their medical practice as well as some of the earlier doctors in Saline County.

Dr. Skelton served her internship and residence at Halstead Hospital, Hertzler Clinic, Halstead, Kansas, under Dr. Arthur E. Hertzler, founder of the clinic and a member of the staff at the University of Kansas. Dr. Hertzler was one of the outstanding pioneer doctors, a prominent anatomist, pathologist, and surgeon. He was the author of "Horse and Buggy Doctor," which vividly describes the trials of the early doctors who successfully practiced under the most adverse circumstances. Dr. Skelton told of the first years of her practice when she frequently had to be met by the families she was calling on and driven several miles in a wagon to their home, and on occasion having to walk over frozen or muddy roads to reach the home.

Dr. Blackard told about many experiences that he remembered about his father, the late Dr. W. J. Blackard Sr. who at one time operated a hospital on Vine street where the Commercial hotel is now located. Dr. Blackard said when he started practicing in Harrisburg, there were 16 doctors practicing here, and he made

Harrisburg Man Held in Joliet for Reckless Homicide

JOLIET, Ill.—A reckless homicide charge has been filed here against Owen Gabel, 50, of Harrisburg, Ill., said by police to be driver of a car which struck and killed Catherine P. Hoffman, 12, last week.

Gabel, originally held on a charge of being an intoxicated driver, was arraigned on the reckless homicide charge after the girl's death. Bond was set at $3,000. Gabel, who lived at 406 West Jefferson street, came here from Harrisburg, Ill., and had been employed as a guard at the Illinois State Penitentiary since May, 1957.

Sectional Cage Tickets On Sale At HTHS Monday

Tickets for the Harrisburg sectional basketball tournament next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights will go on sale at Harrisburg high school Monday morning, Principal Ellis Henson announced today.

Mr. Henson said that all seats on the east and west sides of the gym will be reserved. Chair seats in the west balcony will sell for $1 each per session and upper and lower bleacher seats on the side will sell for 75 cents.

Some seats on the north and south ends will be reserved for cheering sections and the remainder sold as general admission seats the nights of the games at 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Mr. Henson said that the Illinois High School Association requires that 70 per cent of the seats shall be offered to participating schools with 30 per cent left for the host school for each session.

He said that he expected no difficulties for persons desiring tickets to the games although reserved chair seats will be limited.

Bleachers already have been placed on the stage at the south end of the gym.

Burglars Take Items from Tate's Service Station

Burglars made a big haul at the Tate service station on Route 24 at Raleigh early today, Sheriff William T. Barrett reported.

Stolen were the following: Ten Armstrong tires and tubes, ten boxes of Champion spark plugs, five cases of D-X motor oil, three National automobile batteries, 15 cartons of cigarettes, five boxes of cigars, two dozen pairs of gloves.

Entrance was made through a rear door and the large overhanging door in front was opened from the inside to move out the loot.

Sheriff Barrett said there were some evidences that the thieves might have been scared away. He said if anybody passing after midnight noticed anything unusual about the station, he wished they would call his office.

Influenza, Pneumonia Deaths Increasing

WASHINGTON—A Public Health Service report showed today that deaths from influenza and pneumonia are rising sharply again.

Gov't Lowers Discount Rate To Aid Economy

WASHINGTON—The government acted again today to encourage cheaper borrowing in a new effort to revive business.

A 1-2 per cent cut in the Federal Reserve discount rate was announced in the wake of two more reports of sagging business conditions and one reflecting a strong point in the economy.

The developments:—The Federal Reserve Board authorized its New York, Chicago and Philadelphia banks to reduce their interest charges on borrowing by member commercial banks to 2 1/4 per cent. The other nine Federal Reserve banks are expected to make similar reductions.

—The Commerce Department reported manufacturers' sales and new and unfilled orders all were down more than usual in January. Hard goods led the decline.

—Federal Reserve reported department store sales during February were off 8 per cent from the same period a year ago. But sales in the last week of February were slightly above the 1957 figures.

—The Commerce and Labor departments estimated construction activity hit a February record of $3,077,000,000. The estimate may be too high, however, because it did not take into account the unusually severe weather of last month, a spokesman said.

In addition, the Treasury announced that it sold more savings bonds than were cashed in during February for the first month since July, 1956. The public bought 407 million dollars of new Series E and H bonds, 28 million dollars more than it turned in for payment.

Mayor Names Pierson, Bowers to Police Pension Board

Mayor Claud Gibbons yesterday announced that he had made his appointments to the police pension board.

He named Thomas E. Pierson and Quentin Bowers, he declared.

Other members are two active policemen, Pat Atkinson and Link Rann, and Tom Gram, retired city police officer.

'Minor' Trouble Develops

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—The Navy tried again today to launch a satellite-carrying Vanguard but was forced to call off the attempt when "minor" trouble developed just before the scheduled blast off moment.

Navy rocketeers had worked long hours Thursday night and early today readying the intricate three-stage Vanguard, which held a grapefruit-sized aluminum satellite in its nose.

Crewmen evidently ran into trouble not long before the Vanguard was due to blast up from the missile test center.

An announcement called the trouble "minor," but said the Vanguard would not be launched today or tonight.

Heavy rains which poured on the cape Thursday night probably contributed to the Vanguard's troubles.

The Navy did not identify the problem.

Two previous attempts to launch a satellite-carrying Vanguard ended in failure. The Army got off one satellite—Explorer I—which is now whirling around the earth but met with failure in attempts Wednesday to put up another Explorer.

No Date Set
The Navy said minor technical difficulties precluded a firing during daylight hours today.

"Daylight firing is a required objective of this particular test," the announcement said.

Freight Train, Taken from Yard, Driven into Lake

TWO RIVERS, Wis.—A seven-car freight train and its diesel engine were run out of a yard at Manitowoc, five miles from here, by an unknown person today and plunged through a barricade at a coal dock alongside a Lake Michigan harbor here.

The engine and one freight car plunged into the water. Officials said they were not sure whether anyone was aboard the engine when it plunged into the harbor. They considered sending a diver to examine the engine.

Police Chief John Brandt said, "We've scoured the area in search of anyone who may have jumped from the engine and we've found no one. We're proceeding on the theory that a man is in that engine at the bottom of the harbor."

The engine, belonging to the Chicago and North Western, and the freight cars were sitting in the Calumet yards while crewmen were eating lunch. The crewmen said they did not believe that a railroad employee was in the train when it pulled out of the yards.

The train made the five-mile trip to Two Rivers and hit a dead end at the Rice Coal Co. dock.

Death Takes Mrs. John Heck, 89, Eldorado Resident

Mrs. Addie G. Heck, 89, widow of John Heck, and resident of Eldorado, died in the Eldorado nursing home where she had been a patient for about a month at 3 p. m. Thursday. Before entering the nursing home she resided with her son, A. V. Heck, in Eldorado.

The body will lie in state at the Bean and Tanner funeral chapel and the funeral will be held there at 2 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Joe Treat will officiate and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

Mrs. Heck is survived, in addition to her son, A. V. Heck, by the following children: Mrs. C. R. Heasley, Villa Ridge, Raymond Heck and Floyd Heck, Creal Springs, Orval Heck, Eldorado, Mrs. Cecil Lyerla, Flint, Mich., and Ralph Heck, Maplewood, Mo. She is also survived by her sister, Mrs. Lucy Hunsinger, Grayville, and her half-sister, Mrs. Verne Robinson, Chicago.

Mrs. Mary McDormott, 90, Junction, Dies

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McDormott, 90, died in her home at Junction at 11:30 a. m. Thursday. She was the mother of Martin McDormott, Shawneetown, Joe McDormott, Ridgway, and Mrs. Margaret Bippus, Evansville, Ind.

The body will lie in state at the Cox funeral home in Ridgway and a Rosary will be said there at 8:30 p. m. today. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic church in Ridgway and Rev. John Stallings of Shawneetown will officiate. Burial will be in the St. Joseph's church cemetery.

spection by the Grand Warden will be public and will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the lodge room. All friends of the commandery members are invited to attend.

Congressional Farm Bloc Rushes Bill to Block Price Support Cuts

Believe Measure Will Go to White House By April 1

WASHINGTON—The ram-raging congressional farm bloc mustered its forces today for an all-out bid to wipe out Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's cuts in farm price supports.

House Democratic Whip Carl Albert (Okla.) told the United Press he believes Congress will send to the White House by April 1 a bill to block cuts in both price props and planting ceilings ordered by the embattled farm secretary.

Furthermore Albert said there is a "good chance" supporters of the measure could muster the two-thirds vote needed to override any presidential veto of such a bill.

Whether the administration would stand firm in the face of this onslaught remained uncertain. Reports circulated in some quarters that the President would act to ease the price support cuts ordered by Benson.

Freeze Price Supports

The whirlwind moves to override Benson came in both Senate and House committees Thursday. Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.), the only senator to support Benson in the maneuvering, called the action "a vote of utter lack of confidence" in Benson.

Here's what happened:—The Senate Agriculture Committee voted 12-2 to freeze all price supports and acreage allotments (planting ceilings) at not less than 1957 levels until Congress acts on long-range legislation. This would wipe out Benson-ordered cuts in wheat, wheat and feed support prices.

In the absence of a new farm bill it also would block a feared slash in 1959 cotton acreage allotments and continue a special "allotment bonus" for small cotton growers. It was promptly labeled an anti-recession measure and billed for Senate action next week.

—A House Agriculture subcommittee voted 5-0 to approve a bill to reverse the dairy price support cut ordered by Benson. Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) said his House Agriculture Committee will take up the Senate freeze bill as soon as the Senate acts.

Bill's Major Effects
Albert said he believed the bill could be put through the House quickly. Farm congressmen put a rush label on the measure because the cut in dairy price props is slated to take effect April 1. They want the ban enacted before then.

Another major effect of the Senate bill would be to cancel a Benson-ordered 22-cent-a-bushel cut in price supports on this year's wheat crop. Speed is not so essential here because the crop does not go to market before May or June.

Albert said the cut in dairy price props, if permitted to go into effect, "would wreck dairy farmers throughout the country."

Knowland pointed out that Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton has promised to announce Tuesday a list of public works projects under his department which can be accelerated.

Before offering his resolutions, Johnson scheduled early Senate action on an anti-recession housing program and farm legislation. He also renewed his call for establishment of a Public Works Administration to handle building programs.

In the House, Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) introduced resolutions matching Johnson's. Johnson said Speaker Sam Rayburn and McCormack were in full agreement on the need for a public works speedup.

Benson Hits Farm Bloc Drive

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said today that a congressional drive to buy his farm program, if successful, will "unjustifiably" raise food prices and taxes.

Farm bloc forces in the Senate and House are mustering behind a stopgap bill to reverse Benson's cuts in 1958 price support levels for dairy products, wheat, and feed grains.

Benson denounced the committee's actions in a statement issued after attending a Cabinet meeting this morning. He called the farm bloc moves "unsound" and said that "if sustained, they would do serious damage to our farm people and to all America."

"Unless defeated, they would add unjustifiably to the nation's food and tax bills . . . and prolong still further the problems plaguing agriculture."

Sen. Johnson Lines Up GOP Aid for Program

Resolutions Call For Step Up in Civil, Military Projects

WASHINGTON—A Democratic-led drive to pump more federal funds into job-making public works snowballed today. The administration appeared to be moving in the same direction but less strongly.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) lined up heavy Republican as well as solid Democratic support for two resolutions calling on the administration to order immediate steps in civil and military public works projects for which Congress already has provided money.

Johnson introduced the resolutions Thursday. He told the Senate he does not "think we are foredoomed to depression." But he said "God helps those who help themselves and we will not solve our problems if we merely shut our eyes."

No Sponsor in Knowland
Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said he did not plan to join 18 other GOP senators who have become co-sponsors of the Johnson resolutions. He said he thought the Senate Armed Services and public works committees "should hold hearings on the resolutions and should call witnesses from the executive branch of the government."

Knowland pointed out that Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton has promised to announce Tuesday a list of public works projects under his department which can be accelerated.

Before offering his resolutions, Johnson scheduled early Senate action on an anti-recession housing program and farm legislation. He also renewed his call for establishment of a Public Works Administration to handle building programs.

In the House, Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) introduced resolutions matching Johnson's. Johnson said Speaker Sam Rayburn and McCormack were in full agreement on the need for a public works speedup.

Readying Aid Bill
Key House Democrats disclosed they were readying for introduction Monday a bill to provide two billion dollars in federal aid to help provide jobs in depressed cities and towns.

Other major developments:—Government agencies issued a series of reports on construction activity, department store sales and other segments of the economy. The construction report was optimistic but the others were still on the gloomy side.

Call Off Vanguard Launching

Vanguard. If they solved the troubles in the 72-foot rocket, they might start again tonight "counting down" the long hours of checkouts toward a firing Saturday or Sunday.

It was also possible, however, the launching might be put off indefinitely.

The Pentagon said a third attempt to fire the complete three-stage rocket carrying a 64-inch test satellite would be rescheduled "at the earliest practicable date."

Rains Drench Cape
The troubles which cropped up suddenly in the Vanguard may have resulted from heavy rains of Thursday night. The Vanguard sat on its pad during the down-pour and water may have leaked inside some vital part of the rocket. If this happened, crewmen would probably have to "dry out" the complex rocket before launching it.

The Army, meanwhile, was believed at work on another Explorer satellite to replace the one that failed to go into orbit Wednesday.

Similar Satellite Next
The source also said the Army's next satellite attempt would probably involve a satellite just like the unsuccessful Explorer II, because scientists want to prove out the mechanical parts of this one before trying a more advanced Explorer.

The Army disclosed in Washington, however, that Explorer III was already being built at JPL—but this is different from Explorer II or its substitute.

Sources also disclosed in Washington that the Army plans to put up four more satellites after launching Explorer III.

The Army announced here Thursday it was "now certain" the second Explorer launched on Wednesday had failed to go into orbit due to failure of the fourth stage rocket to ignite, and had plunged back into the atmosphere and burned to a crisp from friction.

"I've Had Some Real Close Calls--"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Press Responsible for Mack Resignation; Publicity Stops Congressional Cover-Up; Free Press Vital to Clean Government.

WASHINGTON. — The exit of Commissioner Richard Mack from the Federal Communications Commission brings up the question of why congressional committees frequently don't want to investigate until prodded into it by the press.

In the case of Mack and the FCC, the Harris committee simply did not want to investigate, and was planning to hold a phony punch-pulling, philosophical investigation, and even voted to fire its counsel—until public opinion, aroused by the press, became too potent.

This question of congressional hesitation is deep-rooted and basic. It goes to the issue of why an alert press is important. In case after case, congressional committees have not acted until goaded by the press. It was Charles Bartlett of the Chattanooga Times who forced the McEllan committee to bring out the Harold Talbot conflict of interest after he exposed the fact that the Senate committee was sitting on it.

It was Eddie Polliard of the Washington Post who dug up the Jack Porter letter on the Texas Natural Gas lobby fund.

It was the old New York World which broke the Teapot Dome scandal that led to the famed Senate investigation in the Harding administration. It was the Beulah and Virginia, visited Mrs. Martha Baldwin in Eldorado Tuesday evening.

The Ladies' Aid met for quilting Wednesday. Those present were: Lela Elliott, Bessie Fugate, Jewell Brinkley, Ella Colbert, Beulah Dempsey, Rosetta Colbert, Juanita Potter, Virgie Baldwin, Lizzie Potter, Maggie Scroggins, Naomi Gowan and daughters. Rev. Potter visited the group at the noon hour.

New York Herald Tribune that broke the story of the five-per centers during the Truman administration—though the same newspaper has been strangely silent regarding the President's brother-in-law in this administration.

The life of the digging newspaperman is not always easy. He gets called names from both sides of the political fence. Sometimes the digging takes days and weeks, plus plenty of expense. But it is a vitally important function of the press, and is one reason why the press is given a special freedom under the Constitution.

EARLY MACK PROBE

In the Commissioner Mack case, most people thought that disgruntled Dr. Bernard Schwartz was leaking to this column. It was the other way around. As early as last August, Jack Anderson, my alert junior partner went to Miami and interviewed Thurman Whiteside. This was before Dr. Schwartz got started in Washington. Anderson also talked to Commissioner Mack and got an admission from him that he had received money from Whiteside. This was published January 17. When we tipped off Dr. Schwartz, Mack was interviewed with a wire recorder and gave damaging admissions which have now led to his resignation.

One trouble with congressional committees is that too many congressmen are out to protect their friends. Too many had intervened at the FCC. It's also the trouble with the Justice Department. The attorney general has become a political officeholder. The Justice Department, despite an army of G-Men, did not move to convict four kickbacking congressmen until after exposes in this column. One reason is that the Justice Department has to get appropriations from congressmen. It doesn't like to tangle with Congress.

The Justice Department has never moved in on some of the conflict-of-interest cases turned up by the press in this administration. Though there was one prosecution under the Truman administration.

Peter Strobel, Ike's public buildings commissioner, was exposed in this column and subsequently had to resign for influencing federal contracts with his own firm. Carl O. Hansen was fired from the Farm Home Administration after this column revealed he was working for a wool company on the side.

It should be the job of the Justice Department to catch these conflicts, not entirely the job of the press. It should be the job of the FBI to report on the background of Commissioner Mack before he was appointed. This column reported his pro-utility connections on May 27, 1955, before he took office. This is a responsibility of the press, but not its responsibility alone.

However, the Justice Department and the FBI frequently don't like to go against the choice of the White House—and this is true of both the Republicans and the Democrats.

POLITICS MAKE NO DIFFERENCE

Actually the party in power has little to do with honesty. Both Republicans and Democrats claim to be honest men. Or they claim the opposite party is made up of dishonest men. However, Harry Truman will knock the daylight out of you orally if you step on the toes of his influence-wielding military aide, and the Republicans will maneuver and manipulate to cancel your column if you expose corruption in high GOP places.

Personally, I don't get any kick out of exposing people just for the sake of exposing. It's no particular fun being a cop. Poor old John Maragon, the influence peddler whom I had something to do with sending to jail, is so much more innocent than some of the bigwigs who are getting away with murder that I feel ashamed every time I see him.

Likewise with Henry "Mystery Man" Grunewald, whose crime was peanuts compared with some of the big figures for whom he did inside jobs and who have now deserted him.

However, congressmen will never investigate other congressmen. And the Justice Department usually hesitates before moving in on powerful political figures in high places. Len Hall, the general, likable ex-chairman of the Republican National committee was caught in the act of demanding a political contribution from Frederick H. Snare Co. officials in connection with the government's Nicaro contract. This was published Aug. 10, 1956, and is clearly against the law. But Hall's friend and fellow New Yorker, Attorney General Brownell, didn't move against him, and neither will his friend and fellow New Yorker, the present attorney general, Bill Rogers.

William McGaffin of the Chicago Daily News is one of the news diggers who has lived up to the responsibility of the press by keeping after Hall even though he and I both know he won't get very far.

Maybe some of us are too zealous. But the point to be remembered is that if we want good government we must have honest government. And the strength of our government depends on public confidence in the moral integrity of our officials.

Central Popcorn Company Plant Now Owned by Mr. Wanberg

Announcement is being made of a major business transaction in which Forrest Wanberg, Sr., of Schaller, Iowa, has purchased the entire interest of the Central Popcorn Co. in Shawneetown and also in Middlebury, Ind.

The new company will be known as the Wanberg Popcorn Company with Forrest Wanberg, Jr., to be associated with his father in the management of the new company.

The Shawneetown plant is undergoing considerable remodeling and new equipment soon is to be installed for packaging of the processed popcorn, an operation that has not been carried on here in the past.

Mr. Wanberg has been associated with Central here since 1945 and is one of the pioneers in the popcorn business, having entered the field in 1923. He is well known locally as one who takes an interest in the community as well as business affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bozarth

Miss Della Fay Lambert, 437 Massachusetts street, Gary, Ind., daughter of Mrs. Maggie Lambert, Harrisburg, and Gary Bozarth, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Bozarth, 208 Brown avenue, Valparaiso, Ind., were married Feb. 15 at 7 o'clock in the Valparaiso First Methodist church. Rev. Charles Merrill Smith performed the double-ring ceremony before the church altar decorated with bouquets of large white chrysanthemums and red carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Loren Lambert, Indianapolis, Ind.

She wore a wedding dress of chantilly lace and net, ankle-length and fashioned with a scoop neckline and three quarter length sleeves. Net ruffles gave back interest to the bouffant skirt worn over a hoop and scalloped at the bottom. Her veil of silk illusion was secured to a lace cap embroidered with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of Amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Briddick, Eldorado, served as her matron of honor and wore a red velvet sheath dress with a net overskirt. She carried a bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums and red carnations.

Miss Beverly Renn, 437 Massachusetts street, Gary, Ind., was the bridesmaid and her dress and bouquet were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Mario Pedavoli, Valparaiso, acted as the best man.

Augie Mauser and John Donley, both of Valparaiso, were ushers.

Immediately following the wedding there was a reception in the social room of the church and 125 guests included those from Roan, Logansport, LaCrosse, LaPorte, Valparaiso and Gary, Ind., and Harrisburg and Eldorado, Ill.

The bride was graduated from HTHS and has been employed in Gary, Ind.

Mr. Bozarth was graduated from Valparaiso high school and is employed as an instrument repair man in the Gary Steel Works.

Mr. and Mrs. Bozarth are at home to their friends at 508 North Morgan blvd. Valparaiso, Ind.

Keep Your Head In Tornado Threat

Keep your head and save your life.

That's good advice when a tornado is headed your way. Should you hear a tornado warning, stay calm and take these precautions.

If you're at home, go to the cellar or to the southwest corner of the basement. If you have none, go to the neighbors. Don't go upstairs or stand near windows.

If you're outside, seek shelter. Lying flat in a ditch will provide some protection.

If you're at school, do what the teacher tells you.

Remember, tornadoes cannot be prevented, but when one is coming, proper protection can save your life.

MEASURE CAREFULLY! Chances are, that caution is unnecessary in the situation pictured. The practised American do-it-yourself couple knows the vital importance of ruler and plumb bob in lining things up as they should be. Sometimes, however, when credit help is needed for a home improvement project, the importance of measuring one financing plan against the other, and thus lining up the plan that best suits the borrower's circumstances, is overlooked . . . Bank modernization credit invites comparison.

Ministers Plan Three Union Worship Services

Three union worship services were planned at the March meeting of the Carrier Mills Ministerial Alliance, held Saturday in the First Methodist church.

A Union Prayer service will be held Wednesday, March 12, starting at 7 p. m. at the Church of God on Main street with Rev. Carl S. Davis the speaker.

The Good Friday service, April 4, is to be an evening service. Tom Whiteside, director of music at the Carrier Mills high school, will direct a community chorus. They will sing the cantata "What A Savior." The service will be at the First Methodist church.

Easter Sunrise service, April 6, will start at 6 a. m. with Rev. Elmer Grisham the speaker. This service will be at the Nazarene church.

At the Saturday afternoon meeting the members of the Ministerial Alliance were invited to the base-ment of the First Methodist church for refreshments by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hartford, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
Independence Community Consolidated Grade School District No. 53, Saline and Pope Counties, Illinois, will receive sealed bids for labor and materials required for construction of Independence School Building, according to drawings and specifications as prepared by Gatewood & Fields, Architects, until 8:00 P. M. (C.S.T.) on the 25th day of March, 1958, at the present school building located on site, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read.

Bids will be taken on the General Construction; Heating and Plumbing combined; and the Electrical Work, separately and in any combination thereof if desired.

A Bid Bond or Certified Check made payable to the District in the amount of five percent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid as guaranty that the bid will not be withdrawn within thirty (30) days after the date of opening of bids, and that the successful bidder will enter into a contract for the work awarded him.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory Performance Bond for the full amount of the bid accepted.

The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any technicalities. Copies of the drawings and specifications may be obtained from Gatewood & Fields, Architects, 1009 Broadway, Mt. Vernon, Illinois. A deposit of $25.00 will be required for each set of plans. The amount of deposit for one set of plans will be refunded to each actual bidder. Ten dollars will be refunded to non-bidders.

By order of the Board of Education of said District.

XXXIII
Off at daylight the following morning, Sebastian and Sam Lester were to rendezvous again with Bill Wiggin.

They met Bill Wiggin at the Blue Mountain camp, and learned he'd been held up by a chore for the military over past the Warners. They camped the night with him, saw him packed and away the next morning, then headed homeward once more, swinging wide to the southwest and a safe crossing through the lava beds by way of the old Lassen trail, well below the center of hostilities. Sebastian selected this route so he could contact Drury McVane, who told him that Provo Holt was supposed to come through three weeks before, but had not shown.

The good weather lasted all the way home and, coming in across the final rims, Sebastian sensed a swelling vigor in the world around him and realized with a start that the season was speeding swiftly, with February fully gone and March partly so, and spring's first days only a little way off. When a man's days were full of urgency and movement, he mused, time had a way of sliding by unnoticed.

Old Bob Gayle was waiting at the home corral to help with the unsaddling chore.

"Sure glad to have you fellers back. After all the company we've had for such a spell, Mother and me been findin' things a mite lonely, just bein' by ourselves again."

Sebastian had his head buried against a mule's shoulder while he worked at a sweat-sticky latigo. Now he came quickly around.

"What's that? You mean Miss Ashland and her brother are gone?"

"Kitty Dutra, too," nodded old Bob. "She went along with them. That biggity military feller, Cap'n Dillon, he come for them. Took 'em away in one of them ambulance wagons."

He crossed to the house. Dusk, a blue tide, was coming in across the rims, and Mother Gayle had a light going in the kitchen. Busy at the stove, she turned as Sebastian came in. He closed the door, put the width of his shoulders against it, and his voice ran low and deep.

"When did they leave?"

"Four days ago," Mother Gayle told him. Reading the shadowed, baffled disappointment in his eyes, she quickly added: "Connie left this for you."

She took an envelope from a kitchen shelf, then turned to the stove again while he spread the enclosure on the table by the lamp. The writing was as clean lined and graceful as the girl who had penned it.

"Ward: Jud Dillon has come with an ambulance wagon and escort, and the official order for Phil's removal to medical quarters at Fort Klamath. I must, of course, go along. Kitty Dutra is accompanying us, as both Phil and I would not have it otherwise. Personally, I would have preferred to wait until Phil was a little stronger, but the Army has its own way of doing things, against which it is useless to argue.

"I find that in closing, I must say this. There is a great gentleness in my heart for you. — Connie."

There was another note for him, a short one, in Kitty Dutra's unformed scrawl.

"When you brought me to your ranch, Ward, you said it would give me the chance to find a new faith in life. I have found all of that and so much more I'll never cease blessing you. — Kitty."

Spring came in on the wings of a storm which battered the country for five days.

Calamity hit two of Jeff Chesbro's pack outfits. One, caught in a slide in Cloudy Pass, lost a packer and 10 mules out of 18. Another, also on the way in from Crescent City on the coast, ran in to swift-rising storm waters at a Klamath River ford and lost exactly half of a 24-animal string.

Ward Sebastian had returned to Firecracker Creek and McVane's Mill with a loaded string. Caught there by the storm, he had to lay over with McVane until the weather broke.

April was 10 days old before Sebastian started back to Yreka. It was 15 by the time he arrived there. The town was seething, and it was Helen Chesbro, while she served him supper, who gave him the cause.

"The Modocs have done murder again, Ward. They met with a peace commission for a talk, and then, even as the talk was underway, drew guns and began shooting. They killed General Canby and another member of the commission and badly wounded a third. The word is that it was Captain Jack himself who shot General Canby. Why should they do such a thing, Ward?"

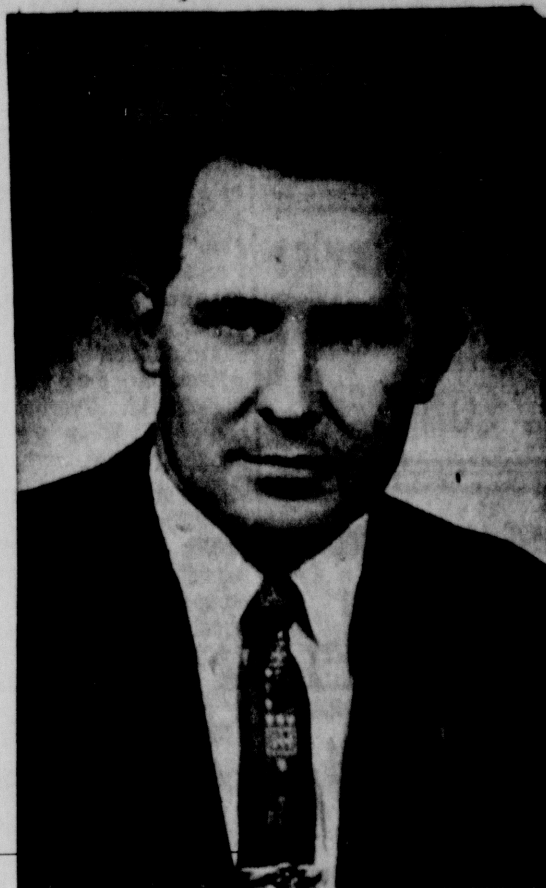

Sebastian brooded for a little time. Then he shrugged.

"Old and bitter wrongs, long remembered, Helen. Such things live with all men, red or white. Under similar conditions white men cold-bloodedly slaughtered Captain Jack's father; the Ben Wright affair, you remember? We've written a lot of other dirty rules in this game of grab and destroy. How can we, in full conscience, blame the Modoc for using a few of them? A sad, sad thing, but—!" He shrugged again.

"Just a hastening of the inevitable end," Sebastian told her. "I'm sorry for our future certain dead—and for theirs."

State Personnel Department Holds
Continuing Exams for Career Posts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—State jobs, ranging in pay from as low as $254 to as high as $1,020 a month are listed as "available" for applicants by the State Personnel Department. The Department calls them "career" posts, and holding "continuing examinations" at five regular examination centers, Chicago, Springfield, Herrin, Mount Vernon and West Frankfort, until needs are met.

Lucrative jobs together with the monthly salary range, include: public health physician IV and psychiatrist IV, $834 to $1,020; TB control physician IV, $791-$967; physician III, psychiatrist III, public health physicians III and TB control physician III, $749-$915; sanitary engineer V, $705-$866; psychiatrist II, surgeon and TB control physician II, $671-$820 and sanitary engineer, $634-$774.

Nearly 300 positions are listed. They include accountants, paid from $733-$692 a month; clerks of various classes, $254 to $498; institutional business managers, $453-$585; adult parole supervisors, $506-$610; cottage parents, $268-$451; flight safety advisors, $369-$585; dairy farmers, $297-$393; and game biologists, $352-$498.

An Illinois population of possibly 10 million is envisioned by a State Health Department Bureau of Statistics Bulletin which says the state had an estimated 9,487,000 residents in July, 1956, as compared with 8,712,000 in April 1955. Based on an average growth of slightly more than 1% a year during the 1940-1950 decade, the population could approximate the 10 million figure by 1960.

Early Doctors Discussed By Historical Society

The 17th Dr. Swan was observing his 50th year in the practice of medicine the year the speaker began practice. Other doctors he remembered practicing at the time were Dr. J. V. Capel, Dr. R. B. Nyberg, Dr. A. J. Butler, Dr. D. A. Lehman, Dr. Jos. C. Lightner, Dr. N. A. Herrmann, Dr. E. W. Cummins, Dr. G. R. Johnson, Dr. B. B. Hutton, Dr. R. G. Bond, Dr. Ezra Hart, Dr. G. B. Hart, Dr. L. McCormick, Dr. Freeman Ozment, and Dr. W. J. Blackard Sr.

He mentioned several other older doctors that he could remember having practiced in and around Harrisburg—Dr. C. W. Turner, Dr. J. W. Mitchell, Dr. J. R. Baker, Dr. Thos. McTaggart, Dr. M. D. Empson, Dr. Fin as Davidson, Dr. W. J. McSparin, Dr. Emery Ozment, and Dr. Edgar Brewer.

Early doctors in Eldorado were Dr. O. N. Gibson, Dr. Sam W. Latham, Dr. J. C. Hick, Dr. Will Johnson, Dr. Frank Johnson, Dr. A. H. Beltz, Dr. G. C. Ferrell and Dr. J. V. Ferrell.

All of these doctors have played a most important part in the development of Saline county, and the Historical society is interested in securing a complete list of the doctors who practiced here many years ago. Anyone having information of this nature is asked to call Louis Aaron or Mrs. Don Scott.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Ownley Furman and Mrs. James Garner.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM G. STRATTON'S drive to cut Illinois highway deaths includes use of airplanes for traffic control on major holidays. The planes are equipped with two-way police radios and afford the pilots a sweeping view of the traffic situation. Aircraft and fliers are supplied by the Illinois Department of Aeronautics. A pilot-policeman goes along in the plane to relay instructions to troopers on the ground to break up long lines of traffic, reroute autos and occasionally to catch speeders timed from the air. Yellow numerals on top of the squad car make it easy for the pilot to spot the radio call-number of the car.

Most of the stars in the Milky Way are so far away that they cannot be seen as separate stars without a telescope. Alpha Centauri, the bright star nearest the earth, is so far away that anyone traveling at the speed of light—186,000 miles a second or 6,000,000,000 miles a year—would take more than four years to reach it. At the same speed it would take 100,000 years to go from one edge of the Milky Way to the other.

To Commission Missile Sub

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—The submarine Grayback, the first of the "capital ships" of the future, will be commissioned at 5 p. m. c.s.t. today at Mare Island naval shipyard.

One of the largest subs ever built, the 322-foot-long diesel-electric Grayback carries a pair of atomic tipped Regulus II missiles. Flying at twice the speed of sound, they have a range of 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

According to the builder, Chance Vought Aircraft Inc., Dallas, Tex., the Regulus is capable of maneuvering in the air like a manned plane, instead of describing a set arc like a ballistic missile.

"It can go in high—above 60,000 feet, or come in low under radar fences," said Chance Vought Vice President Ray C. Blaylock.

"It can fly a dog-leg course to deceive the enemy or avoid his biggest defensive concentrations. No enemy will ever be able to predict where it will come from or how."

The Grayback's commander will be Lt. Cmdr. Hugh G. Nott, 36, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Malan Points to Benefits of Blood Program

In making an appeal today for "greater-than-ever" support of the 1958 Red Cross drive, Russell Malan, chairman of the Blood program for the Saline county chapter, American Red Cross, pointed out that this one Red Cross service (of the many Red Cross services) has benefited the community far beyond its cost.

From August 10, 1948, which was the day the St. Louis Regional Blood program started, through December 31, 1957, 732,197 pints of blood have been collected and distributed by Red Cross in the Missouri-Illinois area. No charge for the blood itself was made to recipients, just as there is no charge made for any Red Cross service. If it had been necessary to obtain this blood from commercial sources, it would have cost an average of $35 a pint—or the amazing total of $25,626,895.

Bringing this figure closer to home, last year 910 pints of blood were used by residents of the county either in hospitals here; in St. Louis; or elsewhere. Multiply that number of pints of blood by the average commercial cost of $35. It amounts to $31,850. Significantly, the total of this year's goal is $12,539.

Deduct the cost to Red Cross for the collection and distribution of blood, which would be approximately $5 a pint of blood, and there remains in the community thousands of dollars which can be used—and which are used—for the purchase of food, clothing, furniture and other major items from community-owned businesses both small and large. Mr. Malan stated in addition to this very important financial aspect, there is the even more important one of the Red Cross Blood program's life-saving value to the community on which no price tag can be placed.

A surgeon said recently: "The Red Cross Blood program ranks in importance with the latest techniques in heart and cancer surgery." He added: "A total of 38,000 were killed and one million injured in automobile accidents last year. Many of those on the injured list would be on the 'deceased' list, except for blood transfusions."

In addition to the Blood program, the Saline county chapter, Ameri-

Bradley Urges Support for Farm Measure

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois Farmers Union President Ralph S. Bradley today urged Illinois farmers and businessmen to "effectively support" the "stop-gap farm bill" approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee to prevent Secretary Ezra T. Benson from reducing price supports.

The bill is sponsored by Democratic Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Bradley said the bill, if approved, would prevent Benson "from making further raids on farm income for the next two years and would help correct a failing economy."

He said the bill would restore about 15 million dollars a year in income for Illinois dairy farmers and about 13 million for wheat farmers and would prevent Benson from reducing "already too low price supports on corn and other feed grains."

Business Briefs

By United Press

The government reported that new construction in February reached $3,077,000,000—a new high for the month. This was 70 million dollars or 2 per cent higher than the previous February record last year. Department store sales fell 8 per cent in the four weeks ended March 1 but in the last week of the period were up 1 per cent over 1957. Manufacturers shipments of new orders in January took a sharper drop than usual from December. For the first time in 1½ years Americans bought more savings bonds than they cashed in.

Consumer buying rose again this week with dollar volume about equal to that of a year ago. Sales of women's spring apparel were stimulated by favorable weather in many areas, and price reductions on small home appliances also helped. Auto dealers reported a moderate rise in the call for new passenger cars, but noticeable year-to-year declines prevailed.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that total consumer installment credit, adjusted for seasonal changes, increased 83 million dollars during January. It said most of the increase was in personal loans. Automobile loans were down 22 million dollars.

Saline County Farmers' Union To Meet March 11

The Saline County Farmers' Union will meet at its headquarters in Pankeyville, March 11, according to the announcement of John McFarland, chairman of the board. Questions of special interest to farmers will be brought before the meeting.

Saline county farmers are very interested in the Saline Valley Development association's success, but recognize that there are problems peculiar to the farmer that must be solved by the united efforts of the farmers themselves.

Saline County Farmer's Union is a non-profit organization for the benefit of the farmers of the community. National in scope, it is local in practice since each county has its own county farmers working for their common welfare.

Mr. McFarland invites all farmers to attend the meeting whether they are members or not and stated that "farmers" include the women as well as the men and he wants the women to bring their husbands and children to this meeting.

Headquarters are located in the feed store building just south of the Pankeyville Baptist church.

Eagles Trip Bull Dogs 70 To 65; Wildcats Beat Norris City, 74-58

Carrier Mills and Ridgway meet tonight for the championship of the Eldorado high school regional basketball tournament and the right to enter sectional play in Harrisburg next week.

Carrier Mills easily took Norris City into camp, 74 to 58, in last night's first semifinal game, and Ridgway knocked the Harrisburg Bull Dogs out of further competition for the year to the tune of 70 to 65.

Tonight's championship game is scheduled for eight o'clock.

The Bull Dogs were outclassed by Coach Bob Dallas' Ridgway Eagles the entire first half as big 6-11 14 Roger Suttner wished 22 of his 31 points through the hoop. But in the last two quarters Harrisburg put on an uphill drive that brought the locals to within two points of Ridgway on two occasions in the third quarter. But the Bull Dogs could not quite get over the hump.

Ridgway Gains on Free Throws

In the first half poor Harrisburg shooting got the Bull Dogs in the hole. They hit but 10 field goals in 38 tries for 263 while Ridgway was making 13 out of 25 for 320. But things evened out more the last half and when the game was over Harrisburg had two more field goals than Ridgway as they hit 24 out of 64 for 375 compared with Ridgway's 22 out of 59 for 373. It was at the free throw line that Ridgway prospered, making 26 out of 42 attempts to 17 out of 22 for the Bull Dogs.

A total of 28 fouls were called against Harrisburg, with Kinch Jones, John Stone and Ron Maynard fouling out, and Jones and Maynard getting four fouls on each of them early in the contest. Sixteen fouls were called against Ridgway.

Ridgway ran up a 15-8 lead the first quarter and increased it to 39-29 at halftime. The Bull Dogs came up to 40-42 and 42-44 midway in the third frame and trailed but 47-50 at the end of the period. With 13 seconds left in the game the Bull Dogs were behind but 68-65 and fighting for the ball under their basket but two free throws by Suttner put the game on ice in the last 10 seconds.

Suttner's 31 points was high for the game. Ray Hassett of Harrisburg was next with 20.

Carrier Mills played magnificent ball in the decisive 16-point trouncing of Norris City. Led by three high scorers, Gary Taborn who had 27 for game honors, Vern Rollins who had 20 and Jack Keene who had 14, the Wildcats rolled up an 18-10 lead in the first quarter and made it 22-12 the second frame before Norris City started closing the gap.

At halftime the Wildcats were ahead but 31-29 but they took command to outscore the White county boys 21-11 the third period as little Taborn made seven out of eight field goals in a single scoring spurt while Norris City was making three free throws during the same period of time. The quarter ended 52-40. Coach "Kayo" Willis' boys extended their lead the last period.

Play Ends for Seniors

Carrier Mills shot a hot 470, connecting with 31 out of 65, while Norris City's 23 out of 61 gave the Red Birds 379.

For Norris City, another little fellow, Jim Greathouse, was high, scoring 18 points on a jump shot from the side.

For Harrisburg, it meant the end of the trail as far as prep basketball is concerned for Ray Hassett, Kinch Jones and Bill Yates, all seniors. That means that John Stone, Ron Maynard and Bob Pavlonis, all regulars, plus Gary Stricklin, Donald Beggs, Mike Woolcott and Don Pickford should be back.

West Frankfort socked Johnston City, 68-52, and will meet Benton tonight at West Frankfort. Moline clipped Rock Island Alleman, 51-48, at Moline and will meet Rock Island High for the regional title.

Springfield Lanphier, rated among the top 15 teams in the state until late in the season, was spilled, 55-53, by Springfield Feitshans in overtime. Feitshans tonight will play for the regional title against Big 12 Conference champion Springfield High, which outlasted Springfield Cathedral, 28-23, in a slowdown game.

In another upset, Tolono Unity whacked Champaign, 52-44, to move into the finals at Urbana. Urbana topped Monticello, 59-48, to gain the other final berth.

Mattoon was extended into overtime before turning back Sullivan, 48-39, at Arcola. Arcola also gained the finals with a 50-46 verdict over Cumberland.

Rockford West coasted past Rockford St. Thomas, 74-43, for the right to oppose Rockford East in the final. East won its final berth Wednesday.

Effingham St. Anthony posted an easy 50-26 win over Louisville at Effingham and will meet Effingham High in the final.

Princeton ousted Bureau, 57-45, and Tiskilwa nudged La Salle, 62-60, to move into the final at La Salle.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

There are a great many suicides in the world. Day after day the news tells about unfortunate, discouraged people who take their own lives. These folk commit the unforgivable sin of denying God and His power. They overlook the fact that the love of God is steadfast and that new opportunities of life are offered every morning.

When people dwell on their own failures, on their own weaknesses and on their own refusal to turn to God, they become so involved in confusion that they surrender to defeat. They take everything in their own hands. They find their own minds too small to deal with life. When people become completely independent of God they try to escape from themselves. There is only one escape from

Yardley Sets New Pro Mark

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — George Yardley said today it was a "great honor" to hold the new scoring record in the National Basketball Association, but added that the new 24-second shooting rule was going to make it easy for "somebody sooner or later."

The balding Yardley bagged 49 points Thursday night to bring his NBA scoring total to 1,953 points, easily eclipsing the mark of 1,832 points set by George Mikan the "Mr. Basketball" of the Minneapolis Lakers back in the 1950-51 season.

Yardley, a project engineer in California during the off season, also established a new pro mark for free throws, sinking 11 Thursday night in the Detroit Pistons' 132-116 victory over the Lakers and bringing his season total to 635.

In the night's only other NBA game, Clyde Lovellette's 37-point barrage helped the Cincinnati Royals nip the Philadelphia Warriors, 110-108. The defeat deprived the Warriors of a chance to clinch the final playoff berth in the Eastern Division.

bakes this prize-winning Pillsbury treat

CHOCODILES

3 cups sifted Pillsbury's Best All Purpose Flour

1 1/4 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup shortening
1/3 cup crunchy peanut butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla

CHOCOLATE CRUNCH

1 cup (6 oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1/2 cup crunchy peanut butter
1 1/2 cups corn soya cereal
Combine flour, brown sugar, butter, shortening, peanut butter and salt. Using low speed of mixer (or pastry blender) combine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add egg yolk and vanilla; mix well.

Press mixture firmly into ungreased 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch jelly roll pan.* Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Cool slightly. Spread with Chocolate Crunch. Let stand until chocolate hardens. Cut into bars or squares. Makes 4 dozen.

Chocolate Crunch: Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over boiling water. Stir in peanut butter and corn soya cereal. *Or make 15 x 10 x 1-inch pan from heavy duty aluminum foil and place on baking sheet.

Here is a recipe that won a top prize for Elizabeth Wickersham of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida in the recent 9th Grand National Bake-off Contest. These "Chocodiles" can be baked in an electric range for less than three cents worth of electricity.

There is much more than economy to be gained from cooking electrically.

Electric cooking is cleaner. Won't smoke up pots and pans. It's cooler, too, because ovens are insulated on all six sides and sealed. The beautiful 1958 model electric ranges are now being displayed by your local appliance dealer. See them now. Be a prize-winning cook in your own kitchen and live better . . . electrically.

Remember . . . your electric bill covers two full months of dependable service. Divide your total bill by sixty and see how little it costs daily to live better . . . electrically.
